Thanksgiving Dinner on A. & C. Stage

Special Thanksgiving dinners are announced by the various local dining places and hotels. Many family groups have already made reservations. The most interesting Thanksgiving dinner, however, will be the complete dinner, from turkey to dessert, served on the Arts and Crafts stage in John Northern Hilliard's production of "Shore Acres."

This is the most famous dinner scene ever staged, at least in an American play, and it takes up practically the entire second act. It is not a "property" dinner either. The turkey is as real as the turkey you, sir and madam, will serve on your own table Thanksgiving day. The cranberry sauce is real cranberry sauce and the pies will be real pies, and will be furnished by the Lark chef. And the actors will eat these foods—not merely pretend to eat. Already the actors of the company are speculating as to which night's dinner will be the best. Mrs. Williams has donated the turkey to be used in the opening performance—Thanksgiving night—and E. H. Tickle of the Highlands Inn has contributed the turkey and trimmings for the Friday night performance. The question now agitating the cast is: "Who is going to donate the turkeys for the remaining two performances?"

LATER

Just as the Pine Cone was being put to bed, who should run in but Mine Host Jordan of Pine Inn, breathlessly to inquire if he was too late to furnish a turkey for a "Shore Acres" dinner. Ye editor informed him that he was not too late, and Boniface Jordan declared he would wager a dollar against a doughnut that he would beat Tickle's turkey by a pound and a half.

Now the question is, "Who will furnish the fourth turkey?"

Delos Curtis will make the candy to be used in the Christmas scene.

Now all that Director John Hilliard is looking for are cranberries and vegetables. He says there are plenty of "nuts."

Woman Presides at Trustees' Meeting

A middle-of-the-month session of the city board of trustees was held last Sunday night. Trustee Helen W. Parkes presided in place of President William T. Kibbler, who was attending a "Shore Acres" rehearsal.

Trustee John B. Dennis was authorized to purchase seven signs to be erected on San Antonio street.

Request by Phil K. Gordon that a culvert be placed at Tenth and San Antonio was granted—but not without objection of Trustee Henry P. Laroutte, who called attention to the fact that many culverts were needed, for which no funds were available.

To City Engineer H. D. Severance was referred the matter of improvement of North Lincoln street to report on grades, survey, etc. The proposal now is to build an 18-foot road, instead of a 10-foot road, as was originally petitioned for.

Coming Events

Tonight—"The Master Builder." Theatre of the Golden Bough.

Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Nov. 27, 28, 29—(Thanksgiving Play) Revival of James A. Herne's famous American play, "Shore Acres." Arts and Crafts Theatre.

Dec. 5, 6, 7—Premiere of "The Ship," by St. John Ervine. Theatre of the Golden Bough.

Monday, Dec. 8—Monthly meeting City Trustees.

Christmas Week—Operetta, Plum Pudding. Arts and Crafts Theatre.

January 1, 2 and 3—"What Happened to Jones." Arts and Crafts Theatre.

The Women's Faculty Club of Berkeley had as guest of honor recently Miss Alice MacGowan, who spoke informally on the writing profession. Other Carmelites present were Mrs. John Kenneth Turner and Miss Katharine Cooke.

Thanksgiving Proclamation by Nation's Executive

WE approach that season of the year when it has been the custom for the American people to give thanks for the good fortune which the bounty of providence, through the generosity of nature, has visited upon them. It is altogether a good custom. It has the sanction of antiquity and the approbation of our religious convictions. In acknowledging the receipt of divine favor, in contemplating the blessings which have been bestowed upon us, we shall reveal the spiritual strength of the nation.

The year has been marked by a continuation of a policy whereby our country has entered into a relation of better knowledge with all the other nations on this earth. It has been revealed to us by which we could perform very great service through the giving of friendly counsel, through the extension of financial assistance, and through the exercise of a spirit of neighborly kindness to less favored peoples. We should give thanks for the power which has been given into our keeping with which we have been able to render these services to the rest of mankind.

At home we have continually had an improving state of the public health. The production of our industries has been large and our harvests have been bountiful. We have been remarkably free from disorder and remarkably successful in all those pursuits which flourish during a state of domestic peace. An abundant prosperity has overspread the land. We shall do well to accept all these favors and bounties with a becoming humility and dedicate them to the service of the righteous cause of the Giver of all good and perfect gifts. As the nation has prospered, let all the people show they are grateful for that prosperity by rededicating America to the service of God and man.

Therefore I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, hereby proclaim and fix Thursday, the twenty-seven day of November, as a day for national thanksgiving. I recommend that the people gather in their places of worship and at family altars and offer up their thanks for the goodness which has been shown to them in such a multitude of ways. Especially I urge them to supplicate the Throne of Grace that they may gather strength from their tribulations, that they may gain humility from their victories, that they may bear without complaining the burdens that shall be placed upon them, and that they may be increasingly worthy in all ways of the blessings that shall come to them.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the United States.

Done at the City of Washington, this 5th day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and forty-ninth.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

(Seal) By the President.

Charles E. Hughes,

Secretary of State.

Our Milk Shrines

We take the following from one of our exchanges:

"I had known for a long time that there were more writers than painters at Carmel, but when I saw in front of most of the houses bookshelves I thought that the whole town had been turned into a Carnegie Library. But what a surprise to find the next morning all the bookshelves filled with milk bottles.

"Whereas the Pagans of olden days gave us altars to the Golden Cal, our Carmelites erect 'Milk Shrines' along the curb. They leave money in the shelves; the milkman leaves the milk when he does not forget it. Thus there are no backdoor interruptions to mar an inspiration, and the picturesque shrines give the town a touch of naive simplicity."

The city trustees are still working on the budget for 1925. Several taxpayers have asked that attention be called to the need of street name signs at intersections to guide the strangers within our gates.

The Abalone

George Sterling has exhausted every effort to dig out every word in the English language that rhymes with abalone to sing the praises of what was once thought a useless mollusk.

Ernest Douster, however, is practical, not poetical, and the preparation of abalone steaks will be the subject of an article which will be featured in an issue of the Standard Oil Company's monthly trade bulletin to be issued soon.

"Pop's" life work, the development of the abalone from a tough and useless mollusk into the toothsome dainty which it now is, will be related in this article.

Illustrations showing each phase in the preparation of the steaks will be incorporated in the story. Photographers under direction of A. J. Wolcott, assistant agent of the company in Monterey, "shot" scenes on the municipal wharf recently.

The bulletin has a circulation of between 10,000 and 20,000. It will be sent to all service stations on the Pacific coast. A number of copies will be sent east to tell the story of the abalone.

Pine Cone Press to Occupy New Building

When February 7, 1925, which date marks the issuance of No. 1, Vol. IX, of the Pine Cone, rolls around, celebration of the event will take the form of moving into new quarters.

The new office and workshop of the Pine Cone Press will be located on Dolores street, opposite the postoffice.

This move is made absolutely necessary because of lack of space in the present quarters to turn out the vast amount of work which this concern handles. More floor space is essential to install additional printing, engraving, embossing and binding machinery.

With the increase in the Pine Cone's circulation a faster newspaper and folding press is needed, not only to facilitate delivery, but to provide for occasional extra papers for feature news and advertising matter.

The lots upon which the Pine Cone Building will be located are now being excavated, and shortly Contractor M. J. Murphy will begin erection of the building.

In addition to the Pine Cone quarters there will be two stores, and upstairs two apartments. The Carmel Realty Company is financing erection of the building.

"Jim" Pollard Is a Radio Bug, Too

Herewith is a copy of a letter of general instructions being sent out to all district agents and line foremen of Coast Valleys Gas and Electric Company. This is an example of the efforts made by this company at all times to assist and co-operate with the public.

District Managers and Line Foremen:

Radio broadcasting and receiving has become a very important factor in American life. Occasionally some trouble such as a leaky insulator on power company lines causes a great deal of trouble and annoyance to a large number of radio fans.

It is the desire and policy of this company to avoid such interference and co-operate with the users of radio to the fullest extent.

You are therefore instructed when troubles of this kind are brought to your attention to give the matter prompt and careful attention, make such tests as are necessary to discover the cause of trouble and have it cleared up immediately.

Yours very truly,
JAMES F. POLLARD,
General Manager.

Ibsen Play at the Golden Bough Theatre

The first performance of Ibsen's "The Master Builder" was presented last night at the Theatre of the Golden Bough, under the personal direction of Maurice Browne. A full review of the play will be given in next Saturday's Pine Cone.

There will be another presentation to-night. The cast is as follows:

Knut Brovik, architect.
William Edward Shepard
Regnar Brovik, his son, draughtsman
George Miller Ball
Kava Fosli, his niece, bookkeeper.
Betty Barr
Halvard Solness, Master Builder.
Madrice Browne
Aline Solness, his wife.
Emma Foye Shortledge
Dr. Herdal, physician.
Charles N. MacAlister
Miss Hilda Wangle Annchen Von Gaal
Two Ladies
Margaret Barr and Carlisle Tupper

"City taxes are coming in fine," says Marshal Englund. Every afternoon he makes a substantial deposit at the office of Treasurer L. S. Slevin. These taxes become delinquent the last Monday of next month.

PINE NEEDLES

M. J. Murphy, wife and daughter left yesterday for Berkeley to take in the California-Stanford football game.

Mrs. Marion McClellan Hall, who had been occupying an apartment at El Monte Verde, has joined her mother in Pasadena.

The Frank Shorts of Fresno will be here for the next two weeks. They are occupying their new cottage in the Eighty-Acre tract.

Ray C. DeYoe and John B. Jordan, enthusiastic Rotarians, attended the regional conference of the organization in Salinas last Tuesday.

Miss Alice Wilkinson has returned to her home in Ogden, Utah. On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Walter Basham tendered her a farewell party.

Mrs. Helen Mueth is looking forward to the home-coming of her two boys, Harrison and Frederick Godwin, from the east tomorrow. They will arrive in Berkeley today for the big game.

Higher Thought services will be held in the Mansfield-Wilson cottage tomorrow at 2:30. Subject: "The Occult Significance of Thanksgiving." The Unity classroom has been opened at 647 Alvarado street, Monterey. Classes will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays at 2:30. The work is conducted on the voluntary offering system.

Kerr F. Albertson and Mrs. Albertson, New Yorkers, have come to Carmel to make their permanent home. They have rented a cottage on Camino Real pending the erection of their own home in Carmel Woods, where they own eight lots. Mr. Albertson's business is that of investment securities and insurance.

Shower for Today's Bride

A delightful shower was tendered Miss Beryl Otis at the home of Miss Helen Wright in Monterey, Thursday afternoon. The young lady received many attractive and useful gifts. Miss Otis, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ney Otis of this city, and a graduate of the Monterey High School, is to be married today at Del Monte chapel to Horace Cochran, instructor in the mechanical department of the high school.

Among those invited to the shower were Amy Jaehne, Irma Littlefield, Helen Otis, Elizabeth Ingels, Doris Hitchcock, Lucille Sparolini, Eloy Treat, Mrs. DeWitt Appleton Jr. and Charlotte Doud.

Miss Christine Otis will come down from Stanford to attend the wedding. The newlyweds will honeymoon in Los Angeles.

Girl Scouts do Well

One of the most successful afternoon social affairs yet given in Carmel was the card and mah jong party sponsored by the council of the Girl Scouts at the Fenton P. Foster home last Saturday.

Many sat down for an hour or two of bridge or of the fascinating Oriental indoor sport. Tea and cakes were served for those who did not come to indulge in the games.

The financial result of the afternoon's activities was an intake of $105, which will go toward the promotion of Carmel Girl Scout work.

Hartmann Will Return

On Saturday and Sunday evenings last Sadakichi Hartmann, distinguished painter, poet and writer, who has spent the past two weeks visiting Carmel and old friends, gave talks on the modern forms of poetry and rhythms at the home of Roberta Balfour (Thudichum) to a few friends, and on Monday evening at the home of the Misses Watrous and Denny in the Carmel Woods. As Mrs. Balfour is emphasizing the rhythm of gesture in both poetry and paint, they had much in common. Among pleasant memories was their friendship with Beatrice Irwin of London, the noted color scientist and poet.

Many friends desired that Hartmann remain to talk upon Ibsen in personal reminiscence of their meeting in Munich and on "The Master Builder," presented this week in the Theatre of the Golden Bough by Maurice Browne, but he left for Hollywood on Tuesday. On Friday last he read from several of his published works on Japanese poetry and his own poems, at the Hegemeyer studio. He will return to Carmel in the spring.

Guilt Will Out.

Let wickedness escape as it may at the bar, it never fails of doing justice upon itself; for every guilty person is his own hangman.—Sepeca.

New England Play With Carmel Cast

If you drop into rehearsals of "Shore Acres" at Arts and Crafts these cold, star-strewn nights, and watch the play begin to take form under John Hilliard's direction, you understand why he and Dr. Burton wanted this and no other for our Thanksgiving play. For while there are airy and recoultive virtues we like to think we possess in April and August, there is something about November, even on this western shore, something about the color of Carmel Valley, and the early setting sun and the fast walk home for dinner, that makes us hark back to the Pilgrim Fathers and contemplate their staunchness and restraint and dry unwilling humor with vast approval, and we murmur, "That is America and I am that."

That too is "Shore Acres," and we are that. We have to bridge no gulf to an alien people in that play. Those New Englanders of thirty years ago, Ann Berry and Helen, Martin and Nathaniel, are of our own stuff. The fight between sentiment and materialism is the fight we are waging today, the struggle between ardent youth and crabbed middle-age is the struggle you are watching in the house across the street. Real people are these, and their words ring true.

And that is why this play is summing up very good stuff from those who are playing in it. A typical Carmel cast, with old favorites in it, and new faces too. Miss Effie McLean, as Ann Berry, is doing her biggest part since Chee Moo in "The Yellow Jacket." Blanche Tolmie adds a slim, virginal, indomitable New England girl to her noble Countess Cathleen and her subtle Kut-el-Kulub, in "Kismet." Tom Bickle, as Martin Berry, has a big part, as different from his confessor in "The Nursery Maid of Heaven," as that was from his cheerful Cockney in "Op-o-Me-Thumb." William T. Kibbler, without whom no play is a real Carmel play, appears again, and Edward G. Kuster, of the Golden Bough, plays a down-east sea captain. F. O. Robbins, experienced as an actor with a famous minstrel show, has a character part, and so have Dr. Burton and Austin James. Miss Katherine Renshaw, who was the Abbess in "The Nursery Maid of Heaven," is playing a Down-East character part in this production, and her crisp character work has the smack of "crumbury sass." May Harris Anson, who was a nun in "The Nursery Maid of Heaven," is a New England woman to the life. Miss Walker, also of the Golden Bough Theatre, contributes a Sarah Orne Jewett portrait to the ensemble. Scott Douglass, whom one still absently calls Mr. Bunt, appears in a new role, and there are two dear little girls. Sam Warren, who fights the old generation for his faith and his love, is played by George Warfield, a new name and a new face to Carmel. Mr. Warfield is a nephew of Blanche Tolmie and son of Olivia Warfield, therefore his ease and intelligence are not surprising to those who know his traditions. Kissam Johnson is playing and stage-managing too, but perhaps Bruce Monahan, who does props, is working even harder.

And there is John Hilliard himself—but he asks us not to talk about him, so we simply say that he is producing and playing Herne's part of Nathaniel Berry, and we leave you to realize how much that means.

The play is a good play; it is being done with intelligence and sincerity. It is enlisting warm, glad, co-operation all over town, and nothing for years has seemed to be so truly and rightly a community play. All you who saw it thirty years ago will want to see it again for old sake's sake, and all you who know it only by name must see it, both because it was a big and important step in American drama, and because it belongs to, grows out of the very stuff that made you.

Red Cross Fighting First Aid Battle

Reliable records establish the fact that more than 75,000 accidental deaths occur every year in the United States. The records show that 206 American citizens are killed every day; that 88 of these deaths are due to automobiles, 35 to falls, 19 to drownings, 16 to burns.

Facing such distressing sacrifice of life is the First Aid Service of the American Red Cross, fighting through education and demonstration to instill a consciousness of safety in the public mind and teaching approved methods which assure that competent hands will care for injured persons until the arrival of doctors. Trained service in the first few minutes is vital in serious accidents and saves many precious lives.

One of the most encouraging signs of the past year is the record of the Red Cross First Aid Insurance Car No. 1 which traveled 9,700 miles along trunk lines, stopping at 127 places. The car's staff of surgeons gave 911 demonstrations to audiences composed of 42,150 railroad men, 71,000 high school and college students, 13,000 industrial workers, 2,000 members of clubs, and nearly 18,000 policemen, firemen, and other municipal employees, a total of 147,000.

Red Cross First Aid certificates were conferred upon 13,865 persons who took the course last year, an increase of 4,000 over 1923. Telephone, gas and electric companies, public service corporations and other large employers of the country adopted the Red Cross course, and their team contests everywhere were witnessed by huge crowds with as much interest as develops at popular athletic games.

In the industrial field the growth of First Aid practice to fight to reduce preventable accidents and unnecessary loss of life has received wide recognition. The promise of an unprecedented advance in this fine cause lies in the evidence of the great strides systematic instruction in First Aid has made throughout the country through the Red Cross Chapters and the work of the experts in this service under direction of the national organization.

Short Bits Relating to The Seven Arts

Local Artist Exhibits

In the San Francisco Chronicle of last Sunday favorable mention is made of the mural by Roberta Balfour, shown in the Berkeley League of Fine Arts annual exhibition, just opened for three months. Mrs. Balfour has also a view at Pebble Beach hung there, and in the Oakland annual exhibition at the Municipal Auditorium three others, one a brilliant mural done in pure colors of gladioli from the Kirschhoff Gardens near Del Monte, and two views at Point Lobos and in Carmel Valley. Another painting in pure oil of startling effect, done at Point Lobos, has gone to the traveling exhibition from Ohio. Mrs. Balfour has her work on view at her studio at Seventh avenue and Lincoln street, in this city, every Friday afternoon. The mural, "Incense," recently exhibited in the annual exhibition of the Carmel Arts and Crafts, is to be seen in the windows of the Sendai store, Monterey. A showing of her work will shortly be arranged in San Francisco, where she is a member of the local branch of League of American Pen-women.

Carmel Might Try This

London's amateur actors will try this winter to get into the professional class. The 300 societies to which the amateurs belong have banded together and rented a West End theatre, where they will stage the best they can produce. They opened the "season" about the first week in November with a gala performance organized by many different societies. Afterward the societies will each take over the theatre for a week and, should any of the productions prove popular, arrangements will be made to produce them at another theatre.

It May Have Been Home Brew

One of the most exquisite poems in the English language is said to have been conceived while its author was under the influence of some drug—probably opium. The poem is Coleridge's unfinished rhapsody, "Kubla Khan," in which the poet describes the glories and the wonders of the palace of Kubla Kahn.

While in a depressed mood, Coleridge took an opiate and, seating himself in an armchair, started reading Marco Polo's description of the great Kahn's palace. He fell asleep and composed over two hundred lines of verse. Upon awakening he began to set down on paper the words of the poem that he had conceived in his dream. He wrote down fifty-four lines, was interrupted and never was able to remember the rest of the verses.

Opera for a Nickel

"Drop a nickel in the slot and hear tonight's opera performance in the state opera house," is the latest Munich slogan. The telephone administration has just opened four opera-hearing halls in Munich suburbs, where long rows of pay telephones wait for customers, eager to hear grand opera for 50 pfennigs.

Telephone subscribers may use their phones at home against a monthly fee for the opera service. When the subscriber who listens to grand opera is wanted by another subscriber, the exchange interrupts the entertainment for the duration of the conversation.

The transmission is entirely over wires and has nothing to do with radio. Subscribers, however, are allowed to hook up radio amplifier units and loud-talkers.

Make Better Friends of

Our Animal Friends

This department is edited by Eunice T. Gray, to whom all communications should be sent, in care of the Pine Cone.

Local Humane Society

The regular November meeting of the Carmel Humane Society was held on Wednesday of last week at Pine Inn. Plans for the establishment and upkeep of the animal shelter for which the town trustees have voted support to amount of thirty dollars a month, were discussed and working committees were appointed.

A house committee, consisting of Mrs. C. Halsted Yates, chairman; Ralph Skene, Miss Louise Conger, Miss Alice McChesney, C. H. Yates and Miss E. T. Gray, will have charge of the sanitary arrangements of the shelter, the purchasing of food and the general oversight of the animals while at the shelter. A rules committee was also appointed which will draw up regulations governing the management of the shelter. These rules will be submitted at the next meeting of the society, and when they have been accepted they will be published in the Pine Cone and placed upon the bulletin board.

Mrs. Yates, believing that her time will be too much occupied with her duties as house manager to carry on her work as president of the society, tendered her resignation, which was regrettably accepted. Miss Eunice T. Gray, first vice-president, will fill the office of president. Mr. Skene was made recording secretary with the special duties of keeping an accurate account of all animals received and discharged from the shelter and a detailed expense account for care of the animals. Miss Dorothy Bassett will act as corresponding secretary and Miss Alice McChesney will continue as treasurer.

THE CAT

Hark! She is calling to her cat. She is down the misty garden in a tatter-brim straw hat, And broken slippers grass-wet, treading tearful daisies. But he does not heed her. He sits still—and gazes.

Where the laden gooseberry leans over to the rose. He sits thorn-protected, gazing down his nose.

Coffee-colored skies above him press upon the sun; Bats about his mistress flutter-flutter one by one;

Jessamines drop perfume; the nightingales begin; Nightjars wind their humdrum notes; a crescent moon rides thin; The daybird chorus dies away, the air shrinks chill and gray. Her lonely voice still calls him—but her panther won't come in!

—Richard Church in Christian Science Monitor.

There should be no unkindness to animals. There is no excuse for it except cruelty uncontrolled. Think it over and if there is a spark of unkindness for animals in your makeup, get rid of it forever.

HIGHER EDUCATION PAYS

The United States Bureau of Education brings out some statistics to bolster up the self-respect of that much derided thing, the college diploma. It points out that although less than 1 per cent of all Americans are college graduates, this 1 per cent has furnished 55 per cent of the presidents, 36 per cent of the members of congress, 47 per cent of the speakers of the house, 54 per cent of the vice-presidents, 62 per cent of the secretaries of state, 50 per cent of the secretaries of the treasury, 67 per cent of the attorneys general and 69 per cent of the justices of the supreme court. As it figures it, the college man's chances for eminence is 370 to 1 against the non-college man. Even more surprising is its showing that 277 times as many college men had amassed wealth as had non-college men. This proportion is expected to grow sharply in the next fifty years, for the colleges are now turning their attention largely to preparation for success in business careers. — Kansas Teacher.

CHILD-LABOR IN CONGRESS

The organizations which are backing the national Child Labor Amendment propose to give Congress power to legislate on this subject, controlling the employment of children up to the age of 18 years.

It is stated that 38 states of the American union already place restrictions on conditions of employment for boys and girls under the age of 18 years.

These state laws provide for protecting child labor from certain dangerous occupations or by limiting the number of hours which they may work in factories, mines, etc.

No one advocates or wants to make a law forbidding boys and girls to work for wages before they are 18 years of age on the farm or in other suitable place.

No state has passed any such law but it is an open question whether the people should give Congress any jurisdiction over this matter and lay the foundation for an army of federal employees to interfere with our children.

It is doubtful whether any legislation forbidding the employment of boys and girls under 18 is not tending to raise a generation of soft-handed, white-collar idlers and street loafers.

The educational value of labor is not appreciated, in the formation of character, in building an enduring physical constitution and in developing a modicum of common-sense.

Needles

Mrs. T. A. Pudan, who has been visiting in Pasadena for some time, has returned to her Carmel home.

The case of M. J. Murphy versus Henry F. Dickenson and others has been set for hearing Friday, Nov. 28.

With new stores being built here and others in prospect, a number of Monterey merchants are figuring on establishing Carmel branches.

The Charles Van Rippers will not be here for Christmas, as their local friends had hoped. But we may look for them in the early spring.

Miss Margaret Fauth is now in the local office of the Del Monte Properties Co., Miss Dorothy Harrington having been transferred to the Del Monte office.

St. Anne's Guild, connected with All Saints' Church of , has contributed twenty dollars toward the maintenance of the deaconess school in Berkeley.

Frederick Preston Search has joined a San Francisco orchestra, and will be away from Carmel for several months. Mr. and Mrs. Search have taken an apartment in the city.

Many letters are being received from the Episcopal clergy, who recently held a convocation here, expressing thanks for the splendid hospitality enjoyed by them during their stay.

Harry Leon Wilson's interesting story of the novice in screen-land, "Merton of the Movies," goes on at the Columbia Theatre, San Francisco, next Monday night, with Glenn Hunter himself playing Merton. A number of Carmelites have planned to see the show.

A number of Carmel football fans are making the trip to Berkeley this morning to witness the U. C.-Stanford game. James Hopper, Hal Bragg, Ernest Schweninger, Jimmy Wilson and other local university men and women are much interested. The stay-at-homes will get the score by radio.

Why Mr. N. Windsor (R. I.) Put Up with Rats for Years

"Years ago I got some rat poison, which nearly killed our fine watch dog. We put up with rats until a friend told me about Rat-Snap. It surely kills rats, though house pets won't touch it." Rats dry up and leave no smell. Prices, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by CARMEL PHARMACY

Judge Fred A. Treat will set a day in December for hearing of the case of Richard C. Harrison et al. versus Peter Hanna.

The fourth play to have its premiere in the Theatre of the Golden Bough is scheduled for next month, when Maurice Browne will produce St. John Ervine's "The Ship."

"You and I," which was given here a short time ago, is to be put on at Stanford University shortly by Gordon Davis. He'll have to go some to measure up to the Browne production.

Miss Frances Taylor and Mrs. Valentine Mott Porter left Tuesday for San Francisco. Mrs. Porter will return for "Shore Acres," but Miss Taylor will remain in the city for several weeks.

During the absence of "Barney" Segal in the south, the clerical force in the Bank of Carmel has Ollis Battershill to help out. Ollis' father is rector of the Episcopal church in Pacific Grove.

Miss Sarah H. Young and Miss Helen Truett of Los Angeles were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Denny at Carmel Highlands. Miss Young is business manager for Elsie Lincoln Benedict.

Have Percy Parkes build your home. He builds them right.
